Senior & Site Manager Responsibilities in Construction Health & Safety (Half day)

The aim of this course is to ensure that Project Managers, Contracts Managers, Site Managers, and other senior personnel have a clear, confident understanding of their legal duties and the practical steps needed to fulfil them.

What you will learn

Delegates completing this course will gain a thorough and practical understanding of:

- Responsibilities Under Health & Safety Law

Know exactly where you stand legally. Understand what is expected of you in your specific role — and ensure you're meeting those obligations every single day on site.

- HSE Guidance for Managers

Get to grips with the Health and Safety Executive's key guidance frameworks and learn how to apply them effectively in real construction environments — not just in theory.

• Common Areas of Risk

Identify the health and safety risks most frequently missed in busy, high-pressure construction settings. Learn how to spot them early and address them proactively — before they become incidents.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

This course is the ideal next step for:

- Senior Managers — including Project, Contracts, and Site Managers
- Team Leaders and Supervisors with site-level responsibility
- Any construction professional looking to sharpen their understanding of health and safety obligations and lead with greater confidence

WHY TRAIN WITH BSG?

We're not just another training provider. Here's what sets us apart:

- Unrivalled sector expertise — We carry out over 15,000 site inspections and train over 5,000 operatives every year. Our courses are built on real data from real construction sites — not generic theory.
- Highly qualified, experienced tutors — Our trainers bring genuine, hands-on construction health and safety expertise to every session.
- Not for profit — working for you — BSG is owned by companies just like yours. Our Board of Directors is made up of BSG members, and every penny of revenue is reinvested into improving the services we provide. There are no outside shareholders. Just a shared commitment to raising standards across the construction industry.
